

Roman Hamala

International Partner – Sok Siphana Sethalay

Roman brings more than 25 years of international legal experience spanning mergers and acquisitions, private equity, and complex cross-border transactions across multiple jurisdictions. Throughout his career, he has advised multinational corporations, institutional investors, and strategic stakeholders on high-value investments and sophisticated deal structuring in both emerging and developed markets.

Having worked extensively in cross-border investment environments, Roman combines strong transactional execution with a practical understanding of regulatory frameworks and commercial realities.

Now based in Cambodia, Roman operates at the intersection of international capital and local opportunity. His work reflects a commitment to strengthening Cambodia's legal and investment landscape while contributing to its growing regional integration within Southeast Asia. Through his engagement with the broader business community, he supports initiatives that enhance transparency, investor confidence, and sustainable economic development.
